THE FELLOW

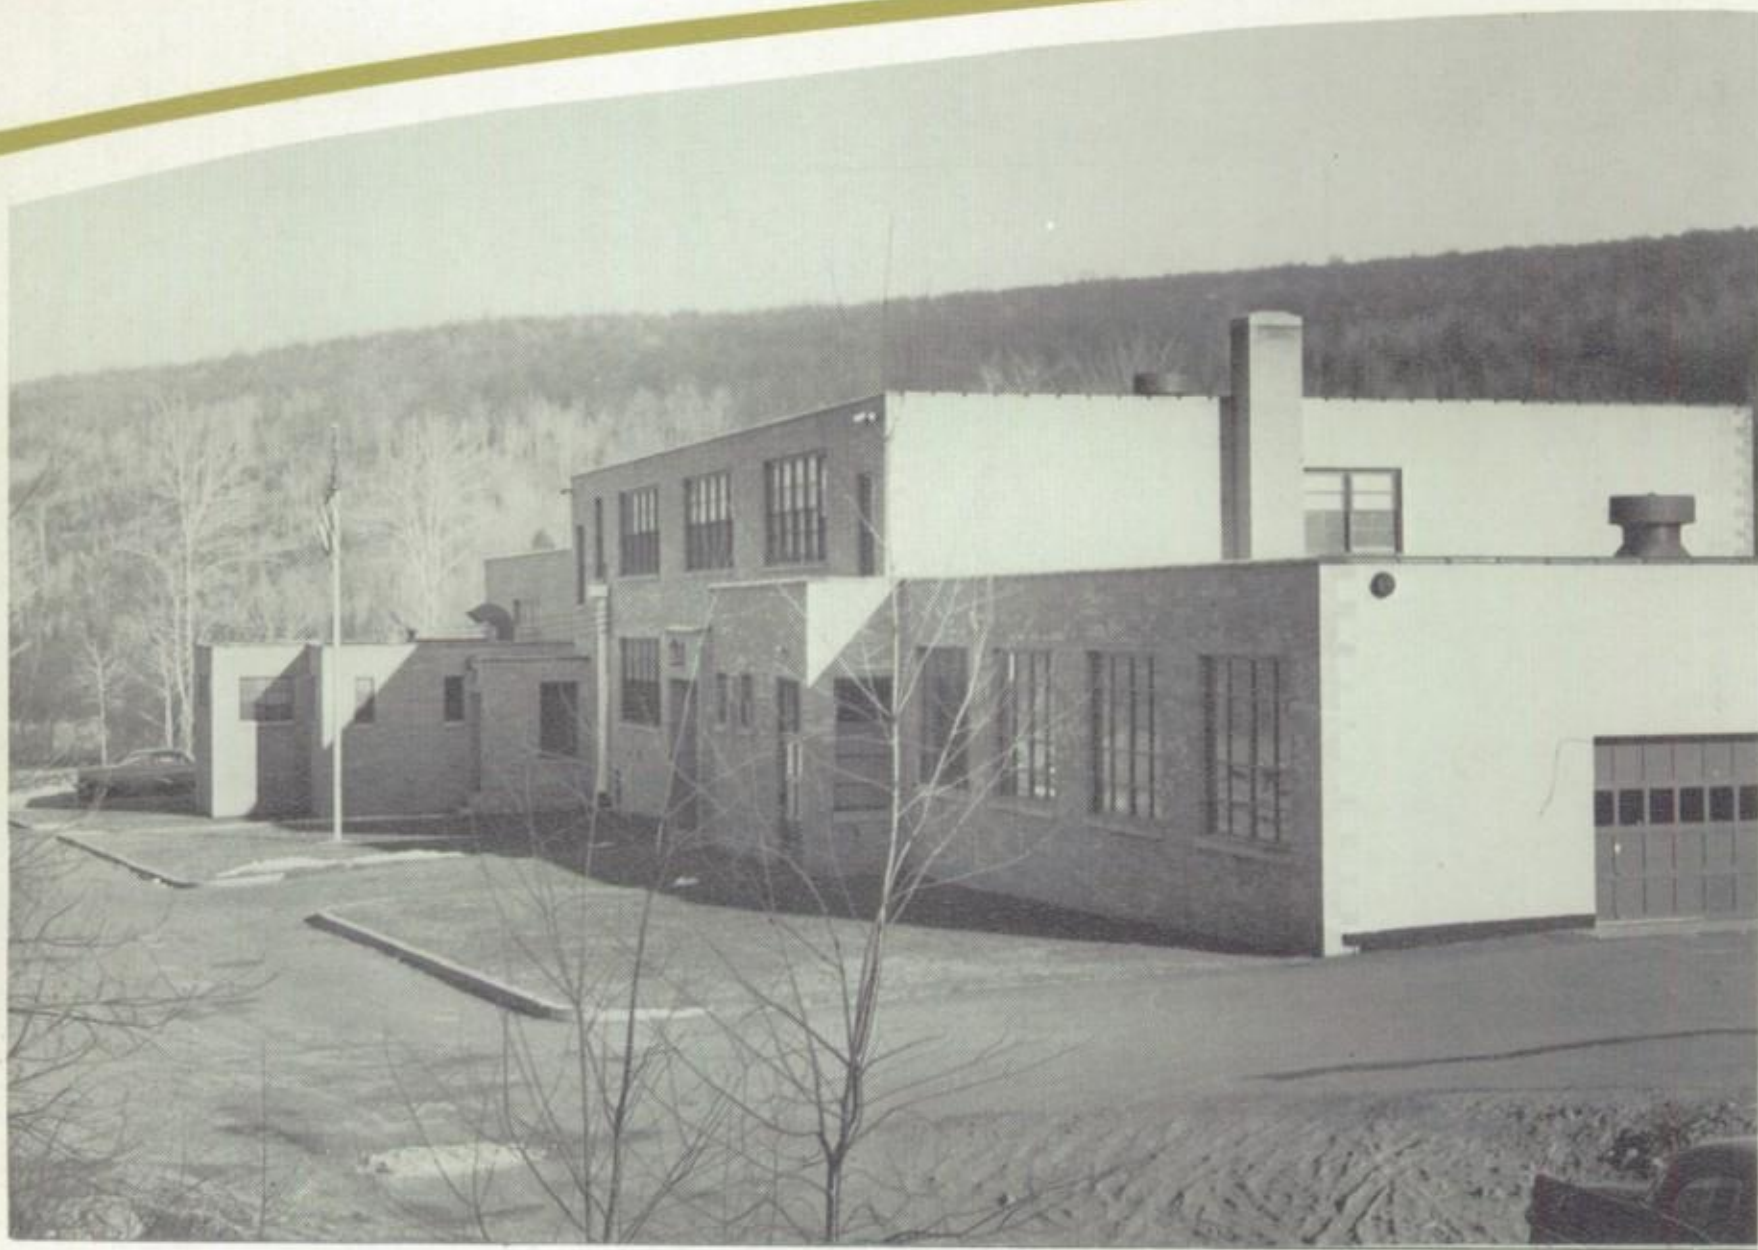

1966

The Fellow

TO THE CLASS OF 1966 . . .

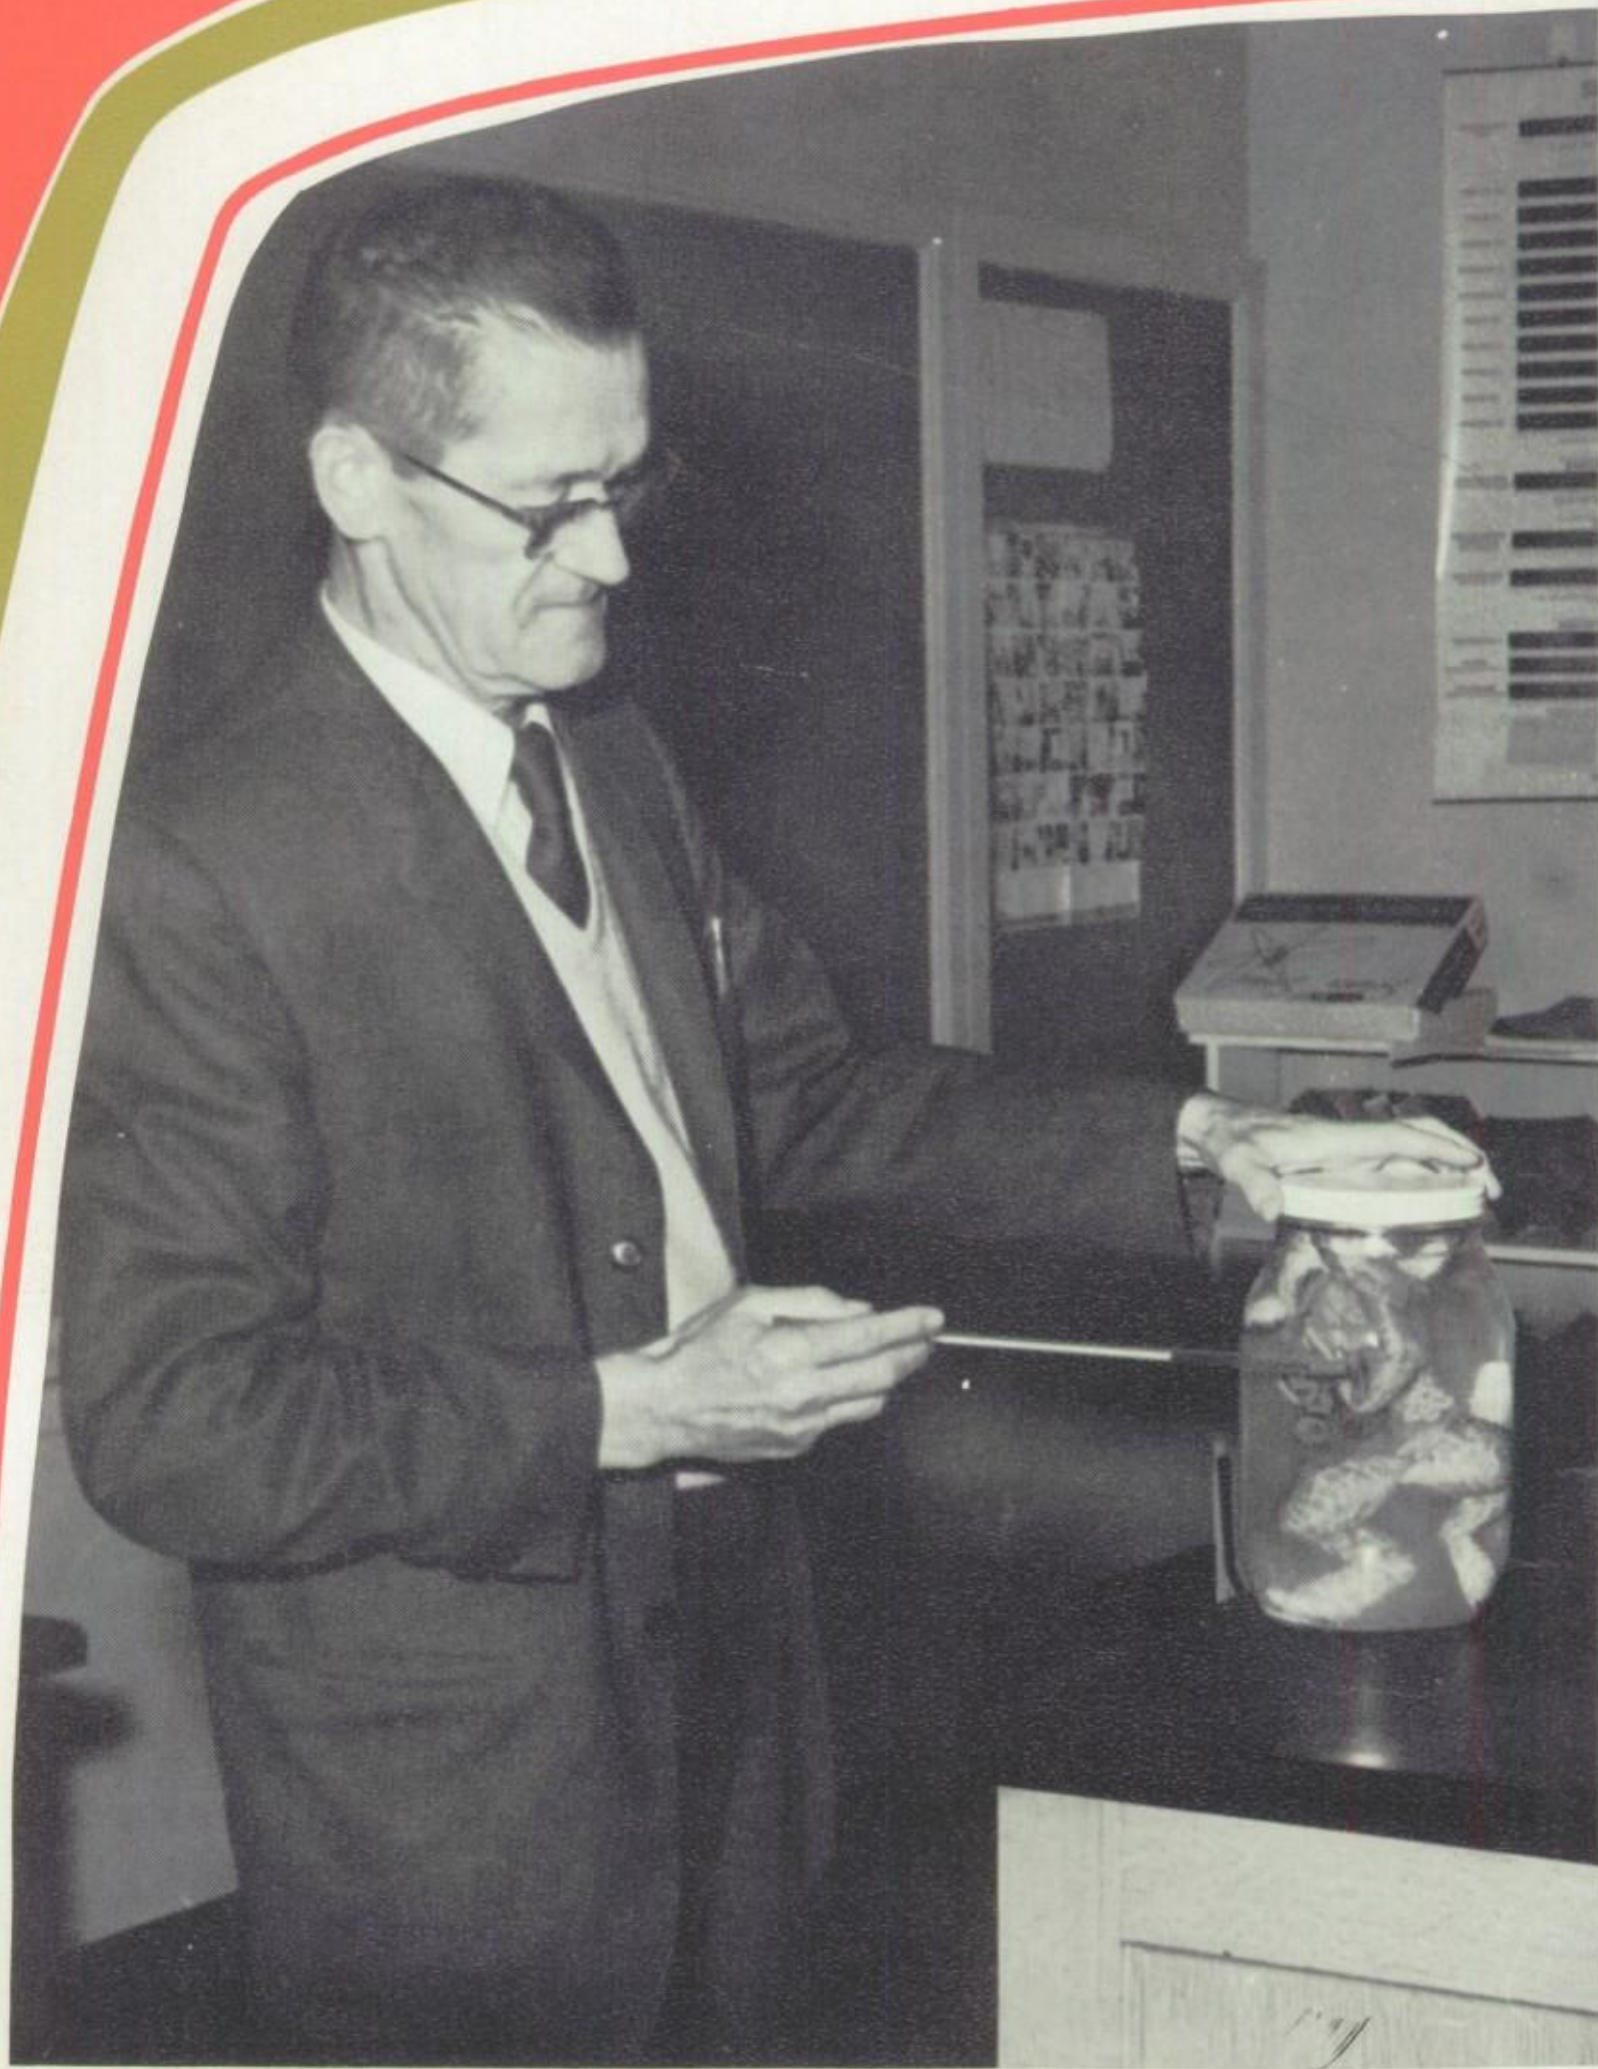

As I review the years I have been associated with the class of 1966, I cannot help but appreciate the fine, wholesome, growth of all its members in both the cultural and social attitudes. You are now to graduate, and with this graduation we hope you will enter into a productive life.

Our philosophy at FELL has been to train young people for a way of life. We have endeavored to develop in you poise and a feeling of self-confidence and to nurture the foundations of knowledge to help equip you for a better service to society. We hope and pray that in this process of education we have all done our part.

You, the class of "66", are writing FINIS to a long line of FELL graduates. It is with sadness that we view this end. May the memories of this school always remain with you and may they serve as an inspiration to lead you to higher goals in life.

Dedication

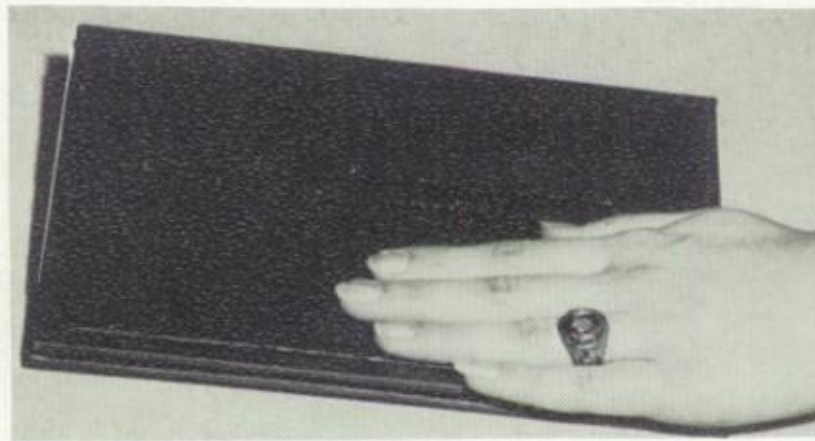

The Senior class of 1966
with lasting gratitude and devotion, dedicate o u r
1966 yearbook to

MR. JOSEPH R. FRANKS

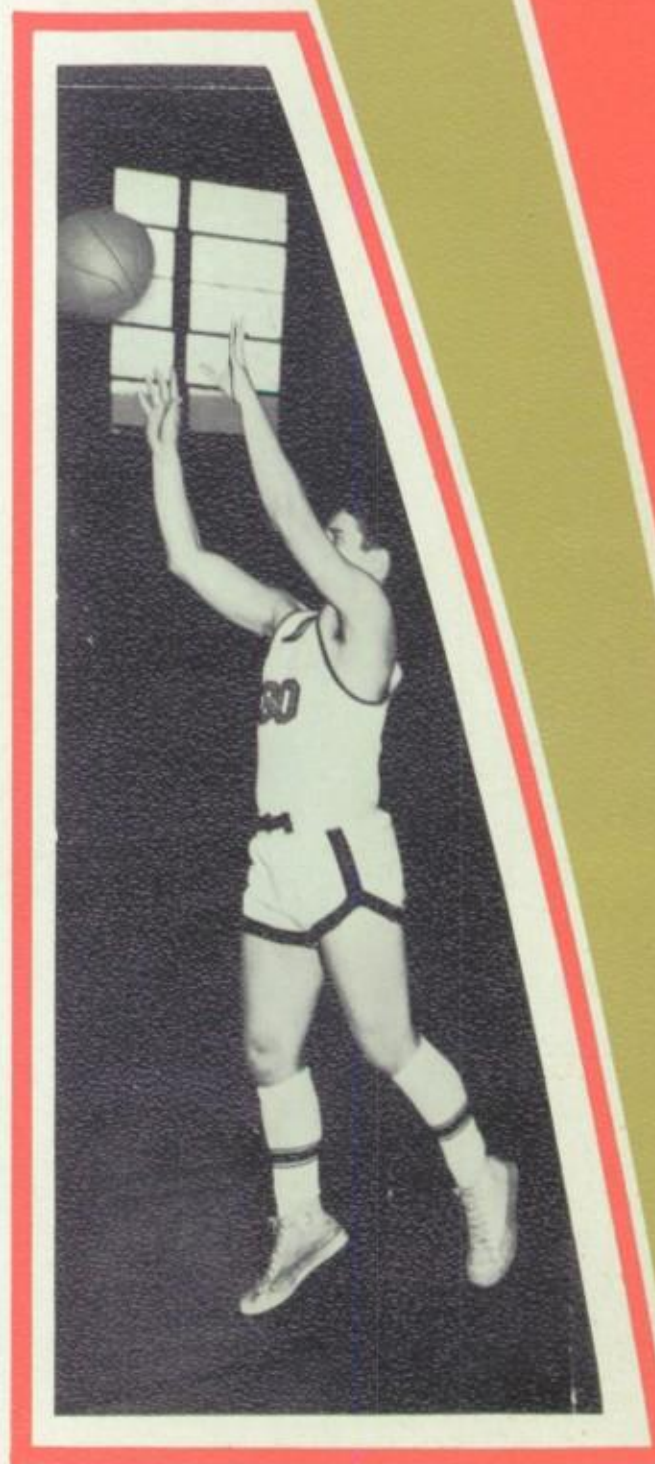

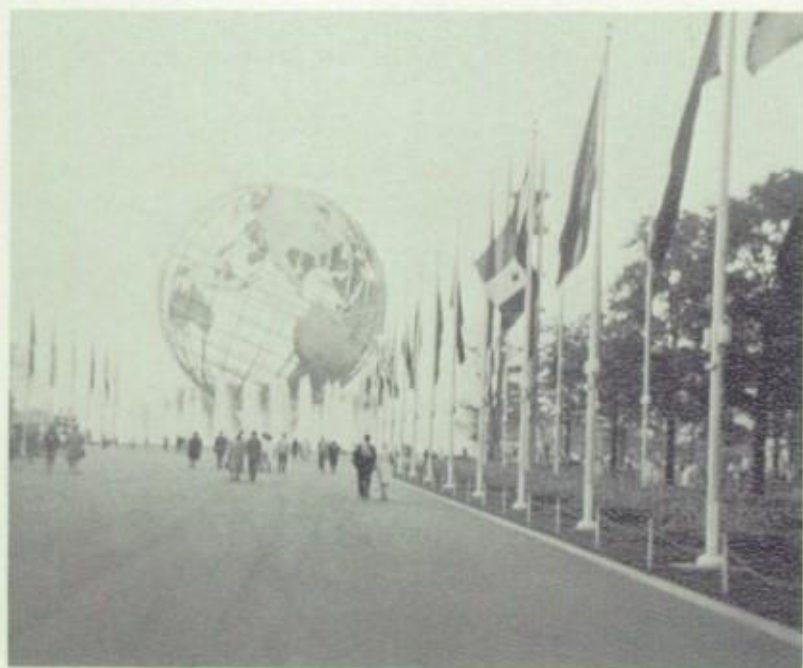

Through the years he has guided us both spiritually and educationally to help us attain success in our future years. He has given us his time, his encouragement, and his valued assistance through his wealth of experience. We shall be forever indebted to him for his fine teaching and patient understanding.

We shall be ever grateful for the guidance, devotion, and friendship shown to us during our high school years by Mr. Franks.

Reflections

We pause for a moment to reflect on the scene we are leaving. There are memories of friends, places and things . . . happy faces . . . work and play. All this made up a part of our lives. The record is written and we are proud. We will forever hold in our hearts fond memories of these wonderful years.

Class History

HIGHLIGHTS OF OUR YEARS AT FELL

On a bleak Wednesday morning in September of 1953 some forty odd energetic, enthusiastic, and scared-to-death children enrolled in Miss Christina's kindergarten class. Being the second kindergarten class, not the first, we were quite insignificant, but that didn't bother us because we were having a great time playing in the sand, and stringing beads. Finally Graduation day came and we each went our separate ways—half to the Roosevelt and half to the Washington School.

Everyone agree that the Roosevelt School was by far the better. Will we ever forget the weekly baseball game, the races, the hopscotch tournaments? In the winter time after a heavy snowfall, the girls were pitted against the boys in a snowball fight that lasted the whole season. Miss Wassel, tapping on the window with her infamous opal ring, brought us back inside to the drudgery of learning the multiplication tables and the musical scale.

Our counterparts in the Washington School were having a duller time. A policy of segregation at recess kept the girls and boys from competing against each other in tournaments of any sort. The girls had to content themselves with playing jump rope and jacks on the school porch. The boys loved to play baseball but usually ended up playing tag because they would inevitably lose their ball in the forbidden area across Main Street. School work was much the same as in the Roosevelt School except there were no fine arts as music and holiday plays.

In fifth grade the two sections were reunited under the tutelage of Mr. Waurin. The first weeks were spent renewing old friendships and making new ones. Now we had enough girls for two baseball and red rover teams. Segregation laws were more lax and the boys often sneaked up to the back to watch us play. The highlight of this year was Lenny Dragwa's miraculous escape from a falling window.

In sixth grade we were divided again under the supervision of Mr. Wilk and Mr. Propeack. Weekly spelling bees between the two sections caused some dissension because Mr. Wilk's class always won. This was also the year of great fights between the girls of the two sections with the boys stuck in the middle not caring who won. In the spring we called a truce so that we would have enough girls to make up two baseball teams. Our fears of the high school increased after we had taken the county test and had a small glimpse of that huge impressive building.

After two weeks of orientation and uneasiness in Seventh Grade, we got down to routine schoolwork, which was not quite as monotonous as in previous years because we had some new subjects in the curriculum—Home Economics and Industrial Arts. Home Ec. was quite a disappointment to some of the girls who had expected to be accomplished seamstresses and have an entire ensemble made by the end of the course. The following year was spent making us into "Betty Crockers" by Mrs. Bambas. But to our dismay we soon learned that we were only to be spectators, not actual participants. We could only watch as she carefully rolled out pastry skills while pointing out that we must always use a pastry blender, pastry cloth, and rolling pin cover that resembled a ribbed sock to turn out perfect pie crusts every time.

The boys in shop were getting much more actual experience. They were busy making bookends, leaf-shaped wooden ashtrays, tie racks, knick-knack shelves, gun racks, and leather goods which they proudly displayed at the annual art exhibit in May. There fun ended, however, when they had to take mechanical drawing and its frightening tests.

Junior high passed quickly because we were kept busy with the full schedule of classes during each of the three years.

Then we were Sophomores assigned to Room 8 much to the dismay of Mr. Tarris. This year was a very important one for us. We had to decide which course would be best suit our individual needs. Some were learning the commercial needs of Bookkeeping and Typing, while others were proving Theorems in Geometry and learning conjugations in Latin. But we all took Biology and none of us will ever forget the six weeks spent dissecting frogs.

Our Junior year was the best. Although all our class projects required much hard work, we had a lot of fun and there was never a dull moment. Our Christmas Card sale and Harvest Hop were financial successes. So to the relief of Everyone, especially the Seniors, we were able to hold the annual Prom. Everyone worked hard for the Prom particularly the decorating committee who bought, dyed, dried, strung, and hung 30 lbs. of macaroni; made a 40 foot dragon; braided endless yards of crepe paper; constructed an authentic gold Chinese gong and a 10 foot oriental pole decorated with Chinese characters and balloons. We could have never completed all these projects without the help of our sponsors and the patience of Mr. Werwinski, who tolerated the constant uproar of a whole class involved in so many projects.

So here we are Seniors, with only one month of school left. Although we'll never forget our years at Fell, we are looking forward to graduation.

Going Home

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1966, being of sound body and reasonably sound mind, do hereby ordain and establish this as our first and last will and testament.

To the Juniors we will the honored title of seniors. Also, we will them our liveliness, brilliance, and wit, which are desperately needed by them to uphold this honored title.

To the Sophomores we will the fun and heartaches of being Juniors.

To the Freshmen we will the relief of no longer being lowly Freshmen.

To the eighth and seventh grades we will our carefree days at dear old F.H.S.

To Mr. Bambas we will our profound affection, gratitude, and appreciation.

To the School Board we will our thanks for their approval of our many class projects.

To the Faculty we will our deepest gratitude and appreciation for tolerating us for the past twelve years and for preparing us for the world.

To the Janitors we will our appreciation for keeping the school in good condition.

To the Nurse we will our gratitude for taking care of our medical needs.

To the Cooks we will our thanks for preparing delicious lunches.

Mary Barna wills her locker "sechs" to her dear friend Janet Waurin.

Cathy Baron wills her flippy pigtails to Karen Dyshuk.

Barbara Bavun wills her rides home from school and basketball games to T. J. Berish.

Joseph Chupeck wills his score book to Philip Sladica.

Diane Daniels will her saying, "Nobody tells me nothin'" to her sister Frances.

Teresa Derwinski wills her shiny red apple with its wiggly worm to her brother Leo to keep it in the family.

Leonard Dragwa wills his wild car antics to Joseph Thornton.

Michael Dyshuk wills his backing ability to all Junior basketball players who need it.

Robert Evancho wills his scientific ability to Dave Bernarsky.

Frank Frederick wills his ability to amuse the opposite sex to Frank Kozup.

Joseph Gallick wills his height to Gary Rupp.

Margaret Gombita wills her dancing ability to Marilyn Striefsky.

Lorraine Kolcun wills her smart wardrobe to Debbie Langol.

Edmund Kulick wills his love of school during hunting season to Walter Curyk.

Class Prophecy

It is twenty years since the Class of 1966 graduated. We are now going to attend our annual banquet, which is being held on the moon at the famous "Moon Valley Hotel."

We board the beautiful luxurious "Gerch Coupe," designed by the universally renowned inventor ROBERT EVANCHO, and are welcomed aboard by the charming Moon-Line Hostess MARGARET GOMBITA. At the controls we find another old classmate, Lt. Col. MICHAEL DYSHUK of the Space Force.

We landed in less than an hour at the Galaxy Airport, which is owned by JOSEPH GALLICK. The Governor of Moon Valley, GLENN MOSKOSKY, greets us upon arrival and escorts us to the banquet.

The "Moon Valley Hotel," which is owned by the multi-millionaire JEROME PILNY, is an exquisite site to behold. The architecture was done by none other than our dear classmate FRANK FREDERICK. The interior decorating was done by Mmes. ELAINE PRAWDZIK and CAROLINE WASNOCK.

Before the meal begins, the Rev. JOSEPH CHUPECK, gives the invocation. After the dinner is served and everyone is settled down, Dr. LINDA SARNOSKI, head staff surgeon of the Moon's first hospital, spoke on "Moon Delinquents." The Supervising Head Nurse of Solar General is JANIS PLESKA.

For entertainment we had two performers from the "Thunderbolt," owned by EDMUND KULICK. RICHARD RUPP, a famous comedian on the moon, kept everyone laughing. Moon-Star, DIANE DANIELS, gave a wonderful dance routine. Music was supplied by THOMAS WITTS and his "Telestars."

JANET VITZAKOVITCH, a model for "Lunar Fashions," was escorted to the dinner by MICHAEL ZURINE, a wealthy stock car dealer. Janet's gown was designed by the famous designer and seamstress, HELEN LESNIEWSKI, and her coiffure was styled by the top hair stylist, GAIL YANKOVICH.

The following day we went to the "Crater Trail Raceway," owned by FRANCES TERPAK. The race is one of the biggest events of the year. It will be televised by Channel WHUN, which is owned by BARBARA MUTA. The camera man on the scene was none other than RICHARD RUSSIAN. The race, a very exciting event, was won by LEONARD DRAGWA.

At the race track we met CATHY BARON, who told us about her travels of the Universe and, of course, the different fashions and dance steps she has learned. We also met another classmate, the author MARY BARNA, who filled us in on her new book, "Simpson, Town Without Pity."

Before we head for home we'll just take a quick walk over to the Celestial University. Here we find the Professors of Chemistry and English to be two of our beloved classmates. We were escorted around the campus by the Dean of Women, LORRAINE KOLCUN. The head of the Department of Chemistry was BARBARA BAVUN, who had just discovered the purpose of $C_2H_9O_{14}(Ag_8F_7)$. In the English Department, it was TERESA DERWINSKI who was giving a special course in Monology.

On the way back to the airport we bought the "Milky Way," an outstanding newspaper of Moon Valley. There was an article about our banquet which was covered by one of the leading journalists in the business—none other than MARIAN MARK.

Well, we guess that just about covers our journey and, in reminiscence, we say with Robert Frost, "Two roads there were—we took one and that made all the difference—SUCCESS."

Your two travelers.

Jophie Mahoski

Barbara Yancheb

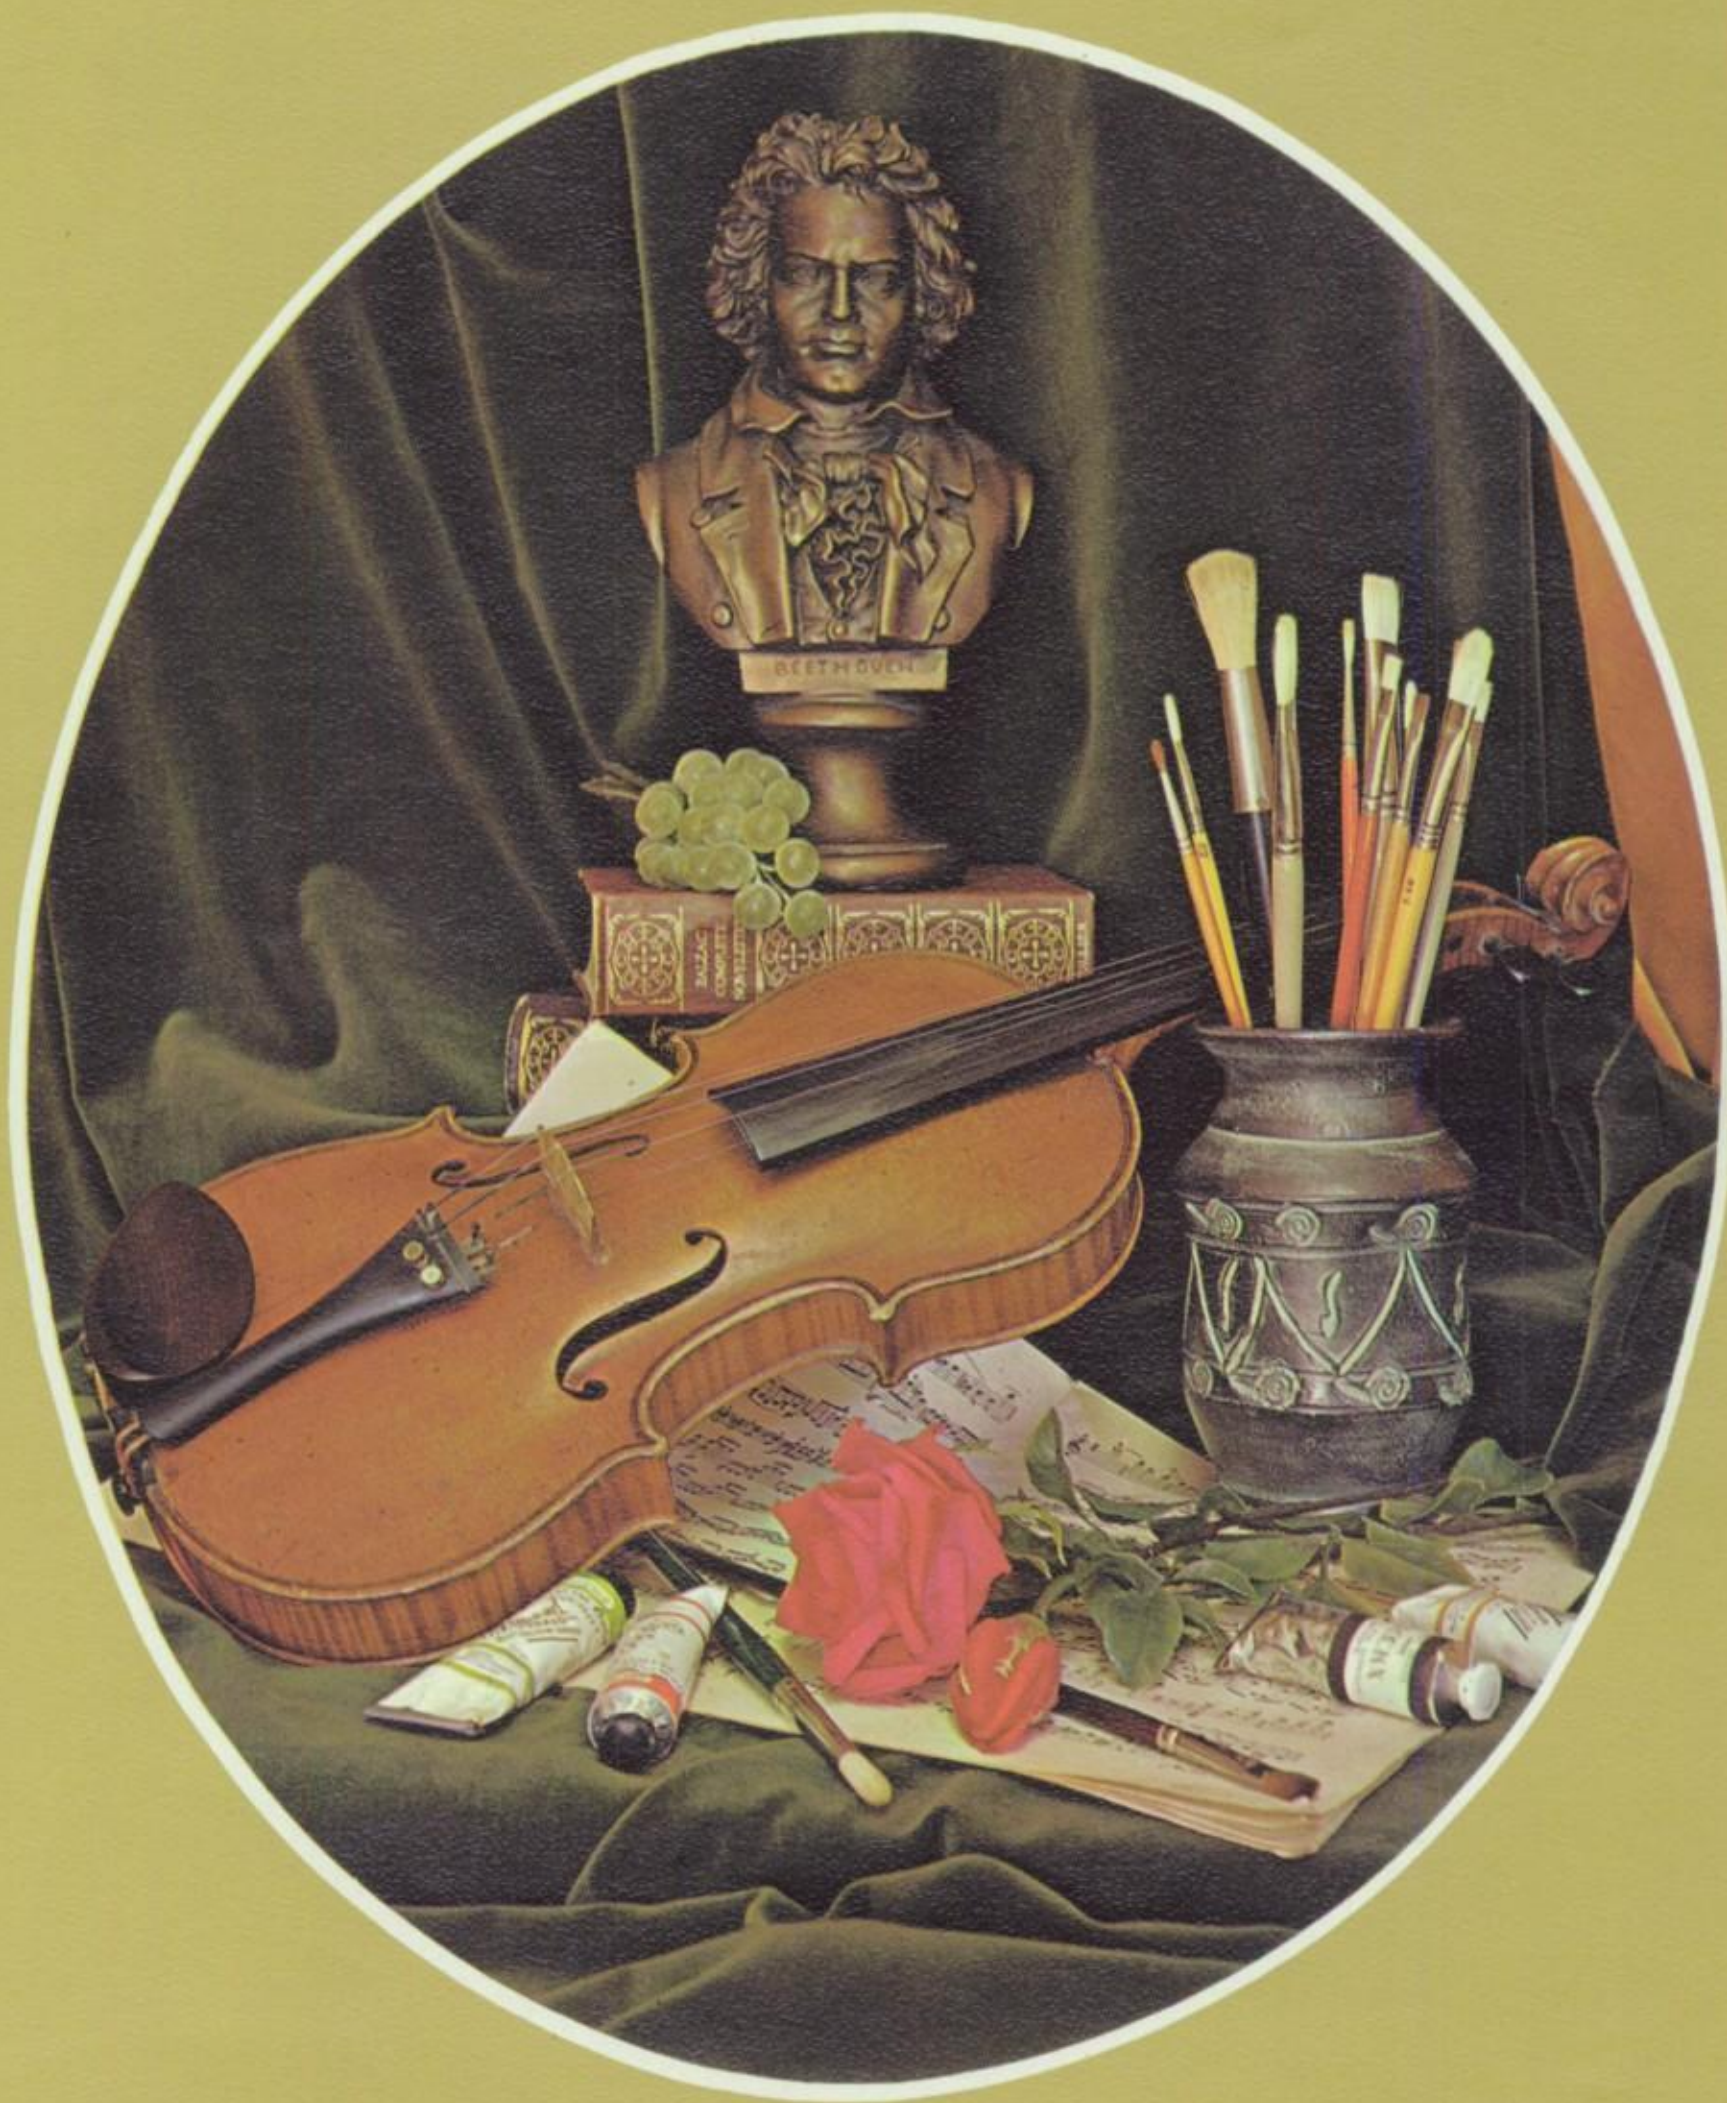

P.S. Junior, Moon Maid, and Honey Moon send their regards. They all invite you to come to Moon Valley for a giant escargot dinner.
